DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed 2/24/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant has added the limitations of "processing the commercial information", "accessing from said server through said network using said address information, said detailed information corresponding to said distribution information", and "commercial information ... comprising commercial information and associated detailed information".

The examiner notes that these limitations do not read over the Schein reference for the following reasons.

The limitations simply provide a further description of what data is being transmitted from the server, as well as accessed from the server, using "distribution information". The term "address information" is broad, and reads on Schein's disclosure of accessing a web site from a web server using a URL (the commercial information, which describes the web site to be accessed) as well as address information (the IP address of the web server) (see Column 8, Lines 3-7 and Column 18, Lines 7-67 and Figure 14). Note that the whole purpose of Schein is to access additional detailed information from servers and display such information to a user for further processing.

Therefore the added limitations still read on the Schein reference of record and the rejection is repeated, with further emphasis placed on the added limitations below, and the Office Action is final.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Schein et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,002,394).

Referring to claim 1, Schein discloses processing commercial information which corresponds to said program guide information and which is automatically displayed for a single program column and is transmitted together with said program guide information (see Column 7, Lines 35-45 for transmitting commands in the VBI, which are used to create an EPG, and also note Column 8, Lines 3-7 for also transmitting commands which contain URL information which allows a user to access a linked internet site from the EPG).

Schein also discloses accessing from said server through said network using said address information (see Column 18, Lines 20-43, said detailed information corresponding to said distribution information (see Column 18, Lines 44-67).

Schein also discloses that said commercial information is transmitted in accordance with address information comprising said commercial information and associated detailed information when a cursor is moved onto a program column of said program guide screen (see again Column 8, Lines 3-7 for accessing a web site directly from the EPG and also note Column 20, Lines 14-17 and Lines 29-56 for a specific example). Also note Figures 20A-20C and Column 23, Lines 36-65 for additional examples.

Referring to claim 2, Schein discloses that the commercial information contains image data (Column 11, Lines 56-57).

Referring to claim 3, Schein discloses that a digital signal can have separate bitstreams that contain video, audio, and program guide information (Column 6, Lines 51-60), and that data related to a television program guide title is related to an advertisement (Column 26, see Claim 14).

Referring to claim 4, Schein discloses that commercial information can be accessed on a remote computer via the Internet (Column 20, Lines 4-9), and that a computer on a computer network (Internet) can be given an IP address (Column 18, Lines 20-43).

Referring to claim 5, Schein discloses hierarchical levels for program schedule data (Column 9, Lines 20-67 and Column 10, Lines 1-28) for a program guide, which contains advertisements (Column 22, 10-18). Schein shows that a first hierarchical level (Channel Data Table) is smaller by holding only the channel required for viewing at a specific subscriber's receiver, while the second hierarchical level (show list) contains start times and additional scheduling data for 24 hours worth of program for every channel listed in the Channel Data Table (Column 9, Lines 20-62 and Figures 5 and 6). It is inherent that the Channel Data Table is smaller than the Show List Table because of the large amount of data storage that would be required to hold 24 hours or weeks worth of show times for each program contained in the Channel Data Table.

Referring to claim 6, Schein discloses a receiver for separating program guide information from a received broadcasting signal (Column 12, Lines 41-44). Schein also discloses displaying commercial information in a part of a display area (see Figure 21A and Column 24, Lines 1-20), and an electronic program guide screen including program columns corresponding to a plurality of programs based on the separated program guide information (see Figure 21A). Schein also discloses when a cursor is moved onto one program column that plural items of commercial information are automatically displayed on a program guide (see Column 22, Lines 3-8). See rejection of claim 1 and arguments above for the additional added limitations.

Referring to claim 7, Schein discloses communicating with an external computer through a computer network (Column 20, Lines 4-9). Schein also discloses displaying further detailed information from an external computer based on address information to display the information when a cursor is moved onto one of the program columns (Figures 21B and 21C and Column 18, Lines 20-43 and Column 19, Lines 51-63).

Referring to claim 8, Schein discloses selecting a program column on a program guide, and displaying program details corresponding to the program column selected and to sequentially display plural items of commercial information included in the program in a part of the display area (see Figures 21A, 21B, and 21C and Column 24, Lines 1-19).

Referring to claim 9, Schein discloses displaying a commercial details screen (see top left window explaining NFL cap in Figure 21C).

Referring to claim 10, see rejection of claim 9.

Referring to claim 11, Schein discloses sponsors for presenting commercial information (Column 22, Lines 10-18).

Referring to claim 14, see rejection of claim 2.

Referring to claim 15, see rejection of claim 3.

Referring to claim 16, see rejection of claim 6.

Referring to claims 17-21, see rejections of claims 8-12, respectively.

Referring to claim 22, see rejection of claims 1 and 16 and arguments above regarding the additional added limitations.

Referring to claims 23-24, see rejection of claims 20-21, respectively.

Referring to claims 25-26, see rejection of claims 25-26, respectively.

Referring to claim 27, see rejection of claim 6.

Referring to claims 28-30, see rejection of claim 27.

Conclusion

3. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
